Issue no. 2050, March 17, 2024

I have thought a lot of avoiding mailing problems. One simple solution is to start a Free, private groups.io. But the Free version is restricted to max 100 members. For the time being we have 135 members in the SWB mailing list.

Therefore it is not an alternative for us.

Next step is Premium groups.io but that cost minimum $20/month and thus not an alternative for SWB.

In a Premium group, owners and moderators can add members to the group directly, without going through the invitation process. This is not possible in a Free group — a big drawback for the moderator.

So I had decided to use a mail with a download link instead which is much easier for me to handle than a lot a of problems when using a pdf-attachment.

About 30 Perseus P22 have been deliviered and there are a lot of questions in Perseus_SDR group as the software still is under development. It seems that this SDR will be something special, but also the price tag! Something around $2000.

Keep on

QSL, comments, etc.

A very nice mail came from Gayle van Horn who writes:

Good afternoon,

I was forwarded your email, in reference to the Issue No. 2049 of the Shortwave Bulletin. It is indeed very informative, and I wonder if I could subscribe to the monthly issues.

I would like to quote and give reference to your information on my Shortwave Central blog as well in the pages of The Spectrum Monitor.

Thank you for your consideration.

Gayle - a very warm welcome to the mailing list. No problem at all with quoting SWB. /TN

Distribution changes of SWB

As previously mentioned, for a long time I have had far too many problems with mail handling. Some emails have not ended up in my Inbox. But most of the problems have been that sent emails were delayed or even did not reach the recipient. This primarily applies to email addresses for yahoo, verizon and AOL. Several emails to Gmail have ended up in the recipient's spam folder. In addition, in some cases reply emails to me have bounced back to the sender.

I have been in contact with, among others, MWC and NZDX to hear how they manage the distribution of their bulletins. Both MWC and NZDX distribute via their groups.io which makes it easy for the editor.

A single email with a download link is sent to their groups which is then automatically distributed to all members of the group.

I have got the advice from several (including my ISP Oderland) that a download link via the website is preferable.

Oderland says: However, it depends a lot on how the filter is set up at the receiver, all suppliers have their own settings and requirements there.

But start by attaching a download link instead, and this particular error should not occur when sending!

The SWB issue will therefore not be attached as a pdf file, instead you will receive a mail with a link for downloading from the SWB archive located at HCDX. Hope this will be simpler, especially for your editor nice indigenous music. March 15 - R. Vanuatu (7260), 0607-0740. Here is one detail from my reception; 0608-0636; family radio drama in Bislama, with the daughter talking to "Papa"; ending with names of actors and the producer; another day with fair reception. (Ron Howard, Asilomar State Beach, Calif.) 7289.93 Mar16 0815 RRI Nabire Pro 1, 0815-0925. Very slowly fading up towards Nabire's sunset at 0910 UT. 0815-0820: EZL songs. 0820+: Start of Ramadan program; intro with some Middle Eastern/Islamic influenced music/singing; mostly long monologues per attached brief audio. At 0900, the start of the often heard ORN. 0913-0917: Maghrib (sunset) call-to-prayer; another day without the usual Islamic Shalawat Tarhim prayer that is normally played before the call-to-prayer. So perhaps this absence is due to a feature of Ramadan? 0917 till tuned out at 0925, due to the QRN becoming too strong. (Ron Howard, Asilomar State Beach, Calif.) Xizang RTS, Lhasa, English, "Holy Tibet", comments, Tibetan songs. (Méndez) 7385 Mar9 1550 7390 Feb25 1401 RNZ Nat. I'm glad it was on SW, Mar3 but in reality, much more convenient and better 'reception' here via webcast, even tho any originally stereo music still came thru as mono. Lots of short pieces and announcements by Uncle Bill. Plans to resume in April via some European SW transmitter, where he expects more support; and we could still pick it up by remote. Station news

AUSTRALIA [non-log]. For an extremely long time now, I have had no signal on 5055 kHz., from Radio 4KZ. Is anyone hearing them? For a while now the OTH radar has almost daily been blocking any chance to hear audio from 4970 kHz. (Radio 567), even though I daily have a carrier there. On 4835 kHz. ("Shortwave Australia") I normally have a carrier, but rarely any faint audio; the problem with 4835 is that they normally play very soft, EZL music that would be difficult to make out even during the best of conditions. [Ron Howard California]

Thanks to the following helpful reply from Craig Seager. Ron

"4KZ 5055 not heard here for a while either. Likely off. There has been some cyclone activity this season in Far North Queensland (same as most years!). TC Jasper made landfall in that general area before Christmas, but not sure if that is the issue. Will make some inquiries of contacts. Both 4970 and 4835 very regular here, with the latter being the stronger of the two. Regards, Craig (Bathurst, NSW)" [Craig's location is about 120 miles west-northwest of Sydney – Ron Howard, California]

AUSTRALIA

5055 kHz has been off the air for about 6 months. I have semi-retired from KZ after 38 years at the helm. Shortwave was removed from the KZ site pending re establishment as Radio 4DX with a similar oldies format as soon as I find an out of town home & site to buy. Also I will be establishing 2485 kHz night time with up to 2 kilowatts. (Al Kirton, VK4FFKZ)

MALI. 5995, March 11 at 0646, no signal from ORTM, unlike the noise blob last night, surely problems there. Hope it's not over; at least Mali still hosts all those ChiCom relays via Bamako. Ron Howard replied:

"Recently Jorge Freitas (Brazil) and I have noted that Mali has been absent. Thanks to Jorge for the alert that something was up with Mali.

I checked 5995, on March 8, after 0615+ UT and heard what sounded like N. Korea jamming(?) (against Echo of Hope - VOH), but no Mali. Didn't check 9635, for their later sign on. Ron

Thanks, Glenn, for your observations. You are right. Believe what I heard was not jamming from NK, as it seemed rather early for that and too strong. Was a significant noise whatever it was! Ron`` (Glenn Hauser, OK, WOR)

RYSSLAND: Det har länge förvånat mig att motståndare till Vladimir Putin och kriget i Ukraina så lite använder medierna för att informera och påverka opinionen I Ryssland. Nu kommer en öppning:

Den oberoende organisationen Reportrar utan gränser (RSF) lanserar ett satellitpaket med nyhetskanaler som har potential att nå 4,5 miljoner hushåll i Ryssland.

Mycket av materialet i projektet Svoboda – döpt efter det ryska ordet för frihet – ska produceras av ryska journalister som tvingats lämna landet efter invasionen av Ukraina. Till skillnad från media i Ryssland kommer de nio kanalerna i satellit-projektet att stå fria från ryska lagar som kräver att kriget i Ukraina betecknas som en "särskild militär operation".

– Det här handlar inte om propaganda mot propaganda. Det här är oberoende journalistik exporterad från demokratier, mestadels av media i exil, till människor som lever i länder med en despotisk regim, sade RSF:s generalsekreterare Christophe Deloire vid ett evenemang i Europaparlamentet i Bryssel på tisdagen där satsningen lanserades. Sändningarna ska bland annat producerats av Radio Sakharov och Novaya Gazeta Europe och administreras av den franska satellitoperatören Eutelsat

Another post which deserve to be mentioned was written by Andrea Lawendel in Milano: "A very nice gift from IMER, Instituto Mexicano de la Radio, Mexico's largest public radio station, with 45 million potential listeners. IMER operates 19 stations, 17 of which are AM and FM (two are online only). Of these, 10 are licensed as public service, and seven are actually commercial ventures. To celebrate its 40th anniversary, IMER published a book, "Historia viejas y nuevas - El Instituto Mexicano de la Radio (1983-1994)", with the history of its first 11 years and its stations. A volume of almost 250 pages full of data and information. It is, of course, in Spanish and can freely be downloaded from this link:

[WOR] [shortwavesites] The SW station in Adra, Syria Part I + II

Syria made its first appearance on the SW bands n the 1950's. As Jerome S. Berg wrote in his book, 1951, 1955, 1958: "Damascus was heard testing a new 20 kW transmitter to Europe on 11 915 and 15 395 kHz." This is SBC calling Europe!" In 1960 the Foreign Broadcast Service was created and transmission on the SW bands started to go to Europe and the Middle East, first just in French and later in English as well.

Before 1978 Syria could use only a few low power transmitters at 7,5 and 20 kW from the location near Sabboura about 30 km from Damascus. These transmitters were left for Syria by the British Army. Since 1978 a more powerful transmitter of 50 kW, made in 1960, started to operate.

Then there was a quite a long period of time when Syria had been off the shortwaves until the country received a stimulus for its development. This expansion of the broadcasting abroad on SW was connected with the intentions of President Hafez Al-Assad to turn Syria into an important political player in the Middle East.

They began to build a very powerful SW Broadcasting Centre near Adra, not far from Damascus: 33 32'38"N - 36 34'00"E. By 1984 four SW transmitters were installed at a power of 500 kW each, which were made in France. And the Syrian Broadcasting & TV Service gave its strong presence on 12 085 kHz! {later 13610 = WRTH 2005 --gh}

Since then the voice of Syria could be heard everywhere in the World - in West and East Europe, in the Middle East, in North America and even in Oceania and New Zealand. In its "hey days" the station transmitted their programs in many different languages: English, French, German, Portuguese, Arabic, Hebrew, Russian and Chinese.

Part II. But technically speaking, a good quality of the signals didn't last long. Towards the middle of the 1990's the transmitters in Adra started to have serious problems with modulation. The strength of the signals was still high, but illegible with a buzzing sound in the background. Quite often the broadcasting could be suddenly stopped. In the middle of the 2000's in response to the multiple complaints of the listeners, the station explained that they had no contact with their technical department.

Later the head of the Technical Service said that the French 500 kW transmitters, working since 1982, were worn out and their output vacuum tubes needed a replacement. But the cost of the parts was unaffordable. The cathodes of the output and modulation tubes lost their ability to emit enough electrons long ago. That was the main cause of all the problems with losing power and poor modulation. Later they managed somehow to replace some tubes but not all of them. As a result the signal was strong, but modulation wasn't good.

In 2009 only two out of the four transmitters could work at the power of 400 kW. At that time there was a plan to buy a couple of the new transmitters of 250 kW, but in 2011 the Civil war started in Syria and the plan wasn't realized at all. The station in Adra reduced the numbers of the frequencies and used just 9330 and 12 085 kHz.

In the 2000's the station left 9330 kHz and switched to 13 610 kHz. In 2014 this once familiar Middle East voice was removed from the shortwave bands as a result of the Civil war, along with decision, made by the Syrian Government, to end the use of the shortwaves.

Many antenna towers were demolished , but some towers laying on the ground near the Tx building could be seen until 2017.

(lev.lyt < lev.lyt@gmail.com> via WOR)

The Broadcasting Service of the Syrian Arab Republic

In the early 1970's, Syria was among the major shortwave broadcasters from the Middle East. The Broadcasting Service of the Syrian Arab Republic, as it was called back then, put in fairly strong signals on 15,165 khz in the 19 meter band, though not as powerful as other stations such as Radio Kuwait and Radio Cairo. In this recording from 1971, we hear a political commentary on the Palestinians, followed by station identification: "You are tuned to Damascus, the broadcasting service of the Syrian Arab Republic. The time is exactly 23 hours and 10 minutes." While Damascus was still using shortwave, including its old 12,085 khz frequency and 9,330 khz in the first decade of the 2000s, the civil war in Syria along with decisions made to end shortwave, removed this once familiar Middle East voice from the shortwave bands.

[WOR] 100 years of radio in Africa: from propaganda to people's power

Published: February 12, 2024

Radio is thriving across Africa. Exact figures are difficult to come by because audience research differs across countries. But studies estimate radio listenership to be between 60% and 80% of the continent's 1.4 billion population.

In contrast to many western countries, where there has been a shift towards streaming and podcasts, traditional radio continues to be widely embraced in Africa. Because of poor literacy levels and uneven access to the internet and technological infrastructure, old-fashioned radio remains a reliable and inclusive medium.

This year's celebration of the 100-plus years of radio offers us an opportunity, as African media scholars, to reflect on the historical significance, cultural relevance, political power and social impact of the medium on the continent. We home in on examples from the regions we've studied to demonstrate this rich history...

https://www.elwamausa.org/elwa-today.html

PS. Due to the long running civil war in Liberia, the radio station was destroyed in both 1990 and again in 1996 ELWA Radio was established in 1954 as the first missionary radio station in all of Africa and one of only two radio stations in Liberia at that time.

From http://www.k6eid.com/ELWA.htm

At the height of the ministry in the late 1980's, ELWA was broadcasting on 5 transmitters in 47 different languages, covering a large part of Africa.

Currently, ELWA radio is broadcasting in English on 94.5 FM, and one shortwave transmitter, covering Liberia in most of the local languages. (Kari Kallio via nordx)

This QSL was from one of the first days of operation for ELWA. They were still in a testing mode.

ELWA was first spotted by David Morgan, K6DDO, who was a very active SWL as well as a ham.

The BBC A People's History

Grundlig och engagerande ...

"du kan inte förstå England utan att förstå BBC" skriver New York Times "Fascinerande och informativ" Daily Telegraph " En dramatisk berättelse om innovation och beslutsamhet" Guardian 1922 samlades en liten grupp män och kvinnor att grunda BBC, använda vad som hade varit ett krigsvapen – Marconis trådlösa – för att göra om kulturen för mänsklighetens bästa. Tjugo år senare, när George Orwell som berömt lämnade företaget, bestämde han sig för att han var klar med "arbete som inte ger något resultat". Ändå är BBC nu en av Storbritanniens mest älskade institutioner. Stjärnor svimmade en gång vid mikrofonen; nu tillbringar några få utvalda sina lördagar med att valsa för nationens underhållning framför studiokameror. Från Daleks till Desert Island-skivor har BBC banat väg för brittisk underhållning. Ändå har det också alltid legat i framkant av global förändring, både genom att bryta och täcka århundradets viktigaste berättelser på Panorama och BBC News. Detta är en omtumlande och monumental historia om den brittiska kulturella ståndaren som skapade modern sändning för hundra år sedan.

The 275th edition of the Hans Knot International Radio Report, since the beginning of this century, is now available for download. 34 pages full of memories. Robb Eden explains in detail how the Ross Revenge was acquired in Cairnryan, Scotland, but also comes with his own insight about the Caroline organisation in the 1970s and 1980s. There are again many photo updates and Martin van der Ven has written three excellent articles on the lesser-known offshore stations: Goddess of Democracy, Radio Marue and Radio Diego Suarez. Also, reminiscences by Don Stevens of Ken Dicken and we reflect on the deaths of Jan van Veen and Steve Wright, among others.

[cougar] JAGUAR KIT V2.0

Hi guys,

The beta level of the KIT V2.0 (standalone Perseus scheduler) is available here: http://jaguars.kapsi.fi/KIT_V2.0.zip

This new version doesn't offer remarkable changes compared to KIT V1.0 and the future development depends on the users' requests.

Changes

- SHOW / PLAY / INFO / SETTINGS buttons open now the standard "Jaguar window frame"
- The PLAY window contains the antenna switch buttons and the spectrum
- KIT SETTINGS (and the SYSTEM.INI start parameters) are compatible with Cougar
- No keyboard support, except (when the standard window frame is open) the keyboard key "N" (=NEXT) can be used to scroll all the available windows

Why would anyone use KIT V2.0

- * If you are perfectly happy with Jaguar, there's no need for KIT
- * But if you
- are not a Jaguar user at all, KIT V2.0 is the best "MW scheduler" available for Perseus want to minimize the resource usage, KIT is a better choice for unattended recordings than Jaguar have any issues when studying old Jaguar files while recording new files at the same time (for example if Jaguar crashes, there will be also a gap in recordings), you may want to use KIT for recording and Jaguar for playback only
- are interested in running 2 x Perseus on one PC

- want to have a "emergency backup" for recording: if any kind of "existential failure" hits to Jaguar and you can't solve it, you may continue recording successfully with KIT.exe
- if your PC becomes inoperative and you have a spare laptop available, you can use KIT for producing not only recordings, but also LIVESCAN files and YAS LOGs << even if you don't have the Pro license (= JAGUARKEY.dat file) >> yet for that laptop/PC however, If you have the JAGUARKEY.dat, you must still save it to the KIT folder if you want to send the YAS.LOG image (x,gif) to the server or if there are any user specific internal code embedded in KIT (just as HEP has)

The full documentation will appear to the server later this spring/summer. If you have any ideas/wishes/requests, pse let me know.

(IPA, Ilpo Parviainen via Cougar)

2 x PERSEUS on one PC

"TWINKIT" is no more supported in this version and currently "2 x Perseus on one PC" can be implemented by running Cougar and KIT simultaneously, both in their own folders.

KIT.exe must be started first. When Cougar is started and KIT.exe is already running, KIT will continue running as hidden (you'll get an info message about that when Cougar is started).

The PANTS feature can be used for reviewing the files produced by Cougar vs. KIT. If there is a need to toggle Cougar Perseus <> KIT Perseus in the LIVE mode, we can try some tricks also for that later. (IPA, Ilpo Parviainen via Cougar)

Re: [Perseus-SDR] Inside the Perseus

Perseus acts very weird when the PSU goes. If you have a meter check it for 5VDC. If you don't try another 5VDC power supply if you have one.

A good alternative is a USB adapter with the end for the Perseus DC input like this one - https://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B09ZQP27K5/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_search_asin_ti-tle?ie=UTF8&th=1

1985 QSL from Broadcast station TNVN Viet Nam (ebay)

DX nostalgia by RFK

We DXers have always had access to much information and other content that was not available on our national home service. At times we could actually hear about things as they occurred and much would never be mentioned in our own press and radio. Over the years many log books disappeared or were thrown away but there were also listeners who saved all their material. Our friend Jan-Erik Räf JER is still around and he started listening during WW2. Here is a part of his log book for 1943. The first column is the position on the logging scale, next approximate wavelength in metres, then date and time heard, station and comments. As you can see there are a few clandestine stations listed: Sender Freies Deutschland, La France Fidele and Der Deutscher Volksender. Both the German speaking stations broadcast from The Soviet Union and Sender Freies Deutschland was especially directed at German soldiers.

Some other clandestine stations logged by JER were Soldatensender Mittelmeer, Deutscher Kurzwellensender Atlantik, Karelsk-Finska Rådsrepublikens Sändare, Radio Tevere – Voce di Roma Libera, Folkesenderen Norges Frihet, Soldatensender Italien and Radio Metropol. The last station was believed to be Radio Belgrad under another name, thus under German control.

A valuable source of information about world radio was Röster i Radio - a magazine published by Radiotjänst, the national Swedish Broadcasting Corporation. They published frequency tables of foreign stations and in many cases also programme schedules.

Below a QSL card from the collection of Jan-Erik Räf, Radio Club de Mocambique, received on 9715 kHz. The card arrived on October 18, 1945. On this day the International Military Tribunal in Nuremberg (Nürnberg) started as 24 former German leaders in various fields were accused of conspiracy, crimes against peace, war crimes and crimes against humanity. When will we see Vlad in the same position?

Here is a card which Bengt Dalhammar BD received together with the verification letter from La Voz de la Isla de La Palma in Santa Cruz de la Palma, Canary Islands in 1960. The station was heard on 7385 kHz and power was a modest 350 W.

Another DX veteran who is still around is Ullmar Quick, UQ. Like Jan-Erik Räf he started DXing during WW2 and here we see a QSL card from 1952 and Radio Malaya, which UQ reported on August 29. The card was scanned by John Ekwall JOE.

Those were the days.... This QSL card from Angolan station Radio Clube do Huambo was received by Jan Edh JE.

Any contributions to DX nostalgia are most welcome, please mail me at info@rock.x.se Take care and stay safe. 73 & GOOD DX!
