Juan Carlos Codina continues to monitor stations from Lima, Peru.
Here is his reports Number 7 and 8:

REPORT FROM PERU PART IV

- 3389.9 R Cutervo, Cutervo, Cajamarca in testing transmissions, announcing 3390. First noted August 6. "R Cutervo, 3390 kc, en senal de prueba, no mueva su dial". Heard from 0000-0506. Non-stop mx, mixed native & international. Not to be confused with LV de Cutervo 4965.8
- 3568.9 My UNID here is R Treze de Junho, Braslileira, Acre reported inactive in last TBS. This stn is very regular, signing on at about 0045, going until 0330.
- 3754.8 R Los Andes, Huamach co announcing 3700 kHz. First noted here August 3 at 2250. Announcing that after the 0200 hours they will begin transmissions in 5030, going there until 1300 hours. (Shut down then the 75m transmitter at 0300) I suppose they use now this frequency at the time that R Huamachuco is on the air to compete with them in the area near Huamachuco, and at the time R Huamachuco close, they move to the 60m band frequency. They announce then 24 hours of continous transmissions, but is not so, both frequencies very irregular.
- 4900.5 R Libertador, Canton Sayaquiri, Cotopaxi, Ecuador noted here from about 1115 August 2. Note that this stn is reported in WPTH as R Libertador/LV de Saquisili, but I heard and recorded clearly Canton Sayaquiri. Also heard the name Guayara.
- 5061 R Nacional Progreso, Loja, Ecuador reactivated the SW outlet since August 18 Good level but distorted. IDs as "Canal 1370 (trece setenta), contigo"
- 5301.4 R San Francisco de Ayacucho is back on the air after more than one month, with very good signal.
- 5477.8v R Yungay, Ancash is here (x 6111.3) since August 24 2215. IDs as "LV del callejon de Huaylas". Noted until 0000, sometimes until 0040, but low power make it impossible to understand after 2330.
- 5560.5 R Pucara now announcing 5300 kHz, but is very stable on this frequency
- 5800v R Acunta, Chota is now regularly broadcasting here, also announcing 1560 kHz
- 6081.6 R 21 de Diciembre, Catavi, Bolivia noted here from about 1000, until 2015.
- 5910.4 UNID very poor under FAX QRM, perhaps the announced Bolivian. Noted 0156
- 6550.6 R RJ1 or "LV de la Juventud", is since one month now, regular here
- 6572.6-6580.4 R Huamacumbre (tentative), Peru. Totally distorted signal, constantly moving. First noted August 21 at 2030. Non stop huayno music. Closing some days at 2200, others at 2100. The following days noted signing on as early as 1400, sometimes closing between 1700 and 2200. This is the hardest station for identifying in many time. Also heard IDs as "R Huaipachani", and "R Huamachito". I have them on tape, but who knows the right?
- 15780 PTP The Argentine broadcast feeder was noted Saturday August 6 putting out two different programs in ISB. LSB relayed R Del Plata, Buenos Aires, and USB relayed R Rivadavia. This is the first time that ISB is used. I suppose this is used to feed the bases in the Argentine Antarctic, and/or the south continental Argentine territory. Heard from before 2030 until abr cd 2240.
- List of stations earlier reported, now inactive (not noted at least for one month, more or less):
- Peru: R Selva, Moyobamba/R Moderna, Moyobamba/R Guaybamba, Guaybamba/
R Bambamarca, Bambamarca: (perhaps active sometimes)/R El Sol, Lima/
R Pajatén, Pajatén/R Frecuencia Juvenil, Cajabamba/R Pocochitos (tent)
- Bolivia: R Estacion Frontera, Cobija/R Horizontes, Cobija (was a coupling signal)/
R Litoral, Cochabamba
- Colombia: La Voz del Cauca, Puerto Leguizamo JCC via THE
- COLOMBIA Emisoras Nuevos Horizontes on 5750.6 is situated in Jose Maria Hernandez, Dpto de Narino. Very clear in Lima August 7, but Im not sure its fundamental. As stated before, no station with this name in Colombia. Last week I heard the call sign, but it got lost due to a troublesome tape-recorder. Gives very few IDs, it takes more than two months to get a few IDs.
